I. W TERNATIONAL REVOLUTION

The contradiction between the revolutionary peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America and the imperialists headed by the United States the principal is the principal contradiction in the contemporary world. The development of this contradiction is promoting the struggle of the people of the whole world against US imperialism and its lackeys.* contradiction in or fight to defeat it.

Long Live the Victory of People's War!

People ask, what is the nature of the revolution that we talk about? Who will it be made by, and for, and what are its goals and strategy?

what are its goals and strately?

The overriding consideration in answering these questions is that the main struggle going on in the world today is between US imperialism and the national liberation struggles against it. This is essential in defining political matters in the whole world: because it is by far the most powerful, every other empire and petry dictator is in the long run dependent on US imperialism, which has unified, allied with, and defended all of the reactionary forces of the whole world. Thus, in considering every other force or phenomenon, from Soviet imperfalism on Israeli imperialism to "workers struggle" in France or Czechoslovakia, we determine who are our triends and who are our enemies according to whether they help US Imperialism or fight to defeat it.

So the very first question people in this country must ask in considering the question of revolution is where they stand in relation to the United States as an oppressor nation, and where they stand in relation to the masses of people throughout the world whom US the masses of people throughout the world whom US imperialism is oppressing. The primary task of revolutionary struggle is to solve this principal contradiction on the side of the people of the world. It is the oppressed peoples of the world who have created the wealth of this empire and it is to them that it belongs; the goal of the revolutionary struggle must be the control and use of this wealth in the interests of the oppressed peoples of the world. It is in this coducts that we must examine the revolutionary struggles in the United States. We are within the heartland of a world-wide jimder that even the crumbs doled out to the enalayed masses within its borders provide for material existence every much above the conditions of the masses of people of the world. The US empire, as a world-wide system, channels wealth, based upon the labor and resources of the rest The US empire, as a world-wide system, channels wealth, based upon the labor land resources of the rest of the world, into the United States. The relative affluence existing in the United States is directly dependent upon the labor and natural resources of the Victualness, the Angolians, the Bolfdans and the rest of the peoples of the Third World, All of the United Airlines Astrojets, all of the Holfay Inns, all of Hertz automobiles, your television set, car and wardrobe already belong, to a large degree, to the people of the rest of the world.

Therefore, any concention of socialist resolution rest of the world.

Therefore, any conception of socialist revolution simply in terms of the working people of the United States, falling to recognize the full soppe of Interests of the worst oppressed peoples of the world, is a conception of a fight for a particular privileged interest, conception of a fight for a particular privileged interest, and is a very dangerous ideology. While the control and use of the wealth of the Empire for the people of the whole world is also in the interests of the vast majority of the people in this country, if the egal is not clear from the start we will further the preservation of class society, oppression war, genecide, and the complete emiseration of eventyone, including the people of the US. The goal is the destruction of US imperialism and the achievement of a classless world world communism. Winning state power in the US will occur as a result of the military forces of the US overextending themselves around the world and being defeated piecemeal; struggle within the US will be a vital part of this process, but when the revolution triumphs in the US it will have been made by the people of the whole world. For socialism to be defined in national terms within so extreme and historical an oppressor nation as this is only imperialist.

II. WHAT IS THE BLACK COLONY?

Not every colony of people copressed by Imperialism lies outside the boundaries of the US. Black people within North America, brought here 400 years ago as slayes, and whose labor, as slayes built this country, are an internal colony within the confines of the oppressor nation. What this means is that black people are oppressed as a whole people, in the institutions and suctal relations of the country, apart from simply the consideration of their class position, income, skill, etc. as individuals. What does this colony look like? What is the basis for its common pipession and why is it important? important?
One historically important position has been that the h colony only consists of the "black belt nation" in the south, whose fight for national liberation is based on a common land, culture, history and economic life. The rollary of this position is that black people in the rest country are a national minority but not actually of the colony themselves; so the struggle for national liberation is for the black belt, and not all blacks; black people in the north, not actually part of tre colony, are part of the working class of the white the colony, are just of the working class of the white oppressor nation. In this formulation northern black workers have a "dual role"—one an interest in supporting the struggle in the South, and opposing racism, as members of the national minority, and as northern "white nation" workers whose class interest is in integrated socialism in the north. The consistent version of this line actually calls for integrated organizing of black and white workers in the north along what it calls "class" lines.

This position is wrong; in reality, the black colony does not exist simply as the "black belt nation", but exists in the country as a whole. The common oppression of black people and the common culture growing out of that history are not based historically or currently on their relation to the territory of the black belt, even though that has been a place of population concentration and has some very different characteristics than the north, particularly around the land question.

Rather, the common features of oppression, history and culture which unify black people as a colony (although originating historically in a common teritor apart from the colonizers, i.e. Africa, not the South)
have been based historically on their common position as slayes, which since the nominal abolition of slavery has taken the form of caste oppression, and oppression of black people as a people everywhere that they exist.

A new black nation, different from the nations of Africa from which it came, has been forged by the common historical experience of importation and slavery and caste oppression; to claim that to be a nation it must of necessity now be based on a common national territory apart from the colonizing nation is a mechanical application of criteria which were and are applicable to different situations.

application of criteria which were and are applicance application to different situations.

What is specifically meant by the term caste is that all black people, on the basts of their common slave history, common culture and skin color are systematically denied access to particular job categories, of positions within job categories, social position etc. resardless of individual skills, talents, money or education. Within the working class, they are the most oppressed section; in the petit bourgeoisie, they are even more strictly confined to the lowest levels. Token exceptions aside, the specific content of this caste oppression is to maintain black people in the most exploitative and oppressive jobs and conditions. Therefore, since the lowest class is the working class, or positions as oppressed as the lower working class, or positions as oppressed as the lower working class positions. (poor black petit - bourgeoisje and farmers); it is a colonial labor caste, a colony whose common national character itself is defined by their common class position. common class position.

Thus, northern blacks do not have a "dual interest"

—as blacks on the one hand and "Us-nation workers" on the other. They have a single class interest, along with all other black people in the I's, as members of the Black Proletarian Colony.

III. THE STRUGGLE FOR SOCIALIST SELF DETERMINATION

The struckle of black people—as a colony—is for self-determination, freedom, and liberation from US imperialism. Because blacks have been oppressed and held an inferior social position as a people, they have a right to decide, organize and act on their common destiny as a people apart from white interference. Black self—determination does not simply apply to determination of their collective political destiny as some future time; it is directly itled to the fact that because all blacks experience oppression in a form that no whites do no whites are in a position to fully understand and test from their own practice the real situation black people face and the necessary response to it. This is why it is necessary for black people to.

rganize separately and discerning their actions eparately at each stage of the struggle.

It is important to understand the implications of this is not legitimate for whites to organizationally there is not indifferences among revolutionary, black ationalists. It would be arrogant for us to attack any lack organization that defends black people and opposed puperialism fun practices. But it is necessary to develop correct understanding of the Black Liberation struggle. thin our own organization, where an incorrect one ack movement. In the history of some external colonies, such as him and Vietham, the struggle for self determination is had two stages: (i) a junited front against uperialism and for New Democracy (which is a junited list of the projectional classes led by the projection of anti-colonial classes led by the projection of the content of which is a compromise between the crests of the projection and nationalist peasants, etit bourgeoiste and national bourgeoiste); and of the new democratic stage, socialism.

onever, the back liberation struggle in this country have only one "stage"; the struggle ion determination will embody within it the struggle socialism.

s. Huey. P. Newton has said, "in order to be a olutionary nationalist, you would of necessity have to a socialist." This is because—given the caste quality. of oppression as a people-through a common degree of exploitation — self-determination requires being free from white capitalist exploitation in the form of indiginor (lower caste) jobs, housing, schools, hospitals inferior (lower claste) jobs, housing, schools, hospitals, prices. In addition, only what was or became in practice a socialist program for self-determination—one which addressed itself to reversing this exploitation—could win the necessary active mass support in the "proletarian colony."

The program of a united front for new democracy, on the other haid, would not be as thorough, and so would not win as active and determined support, from the black masses. The only reason for having such a front would be where the independent petit bourgeoist forces which it would bring in would add enough strength to balance the weakening of proletarian backing, This is not the case: first, because much of the black petit bourgeoiste is adually a "comprador" petit bourgeoiste (like so-called black capitalists who are promoted by the power structure to seem independent but are jettly agents of white monopoly capital), who would never fight agents of white monopoly capital), who would never fight as a class for any real self-determination; and secondly, because many black petit bourgeoisis, perhaps most while not having a class interest in socialist self-determination, are close enough to the black self-determination, are close enough to the discussion and limitations on their conditions that they will support many kinds of self-determination issues, and, especially when the movement is winning, can be won to support full (socialist) self-determination. For the black movement, when the support that the self-determination is the self-determination of the self-determination is the self-determination. to work to makimize this support from the petit bourgeoisie is correct; but it is in no way a united from where it is clear that the Black Liberation Movement should not and does not modify the revolutionary socialist content of its stand to win that support BLACK LIBERATION MEANS REVOLUTION

Nhat is the relationship of the struggle for black I-determination to the whole world wide revolution defeat VS imperialism and internationalize its ources toward the goal of creating a classiess world?

No black self-eletermination could be wo, which would not recult in a victory for the international revolution as a whole. The black protestarian colons, being dispersed as such a large and exploited section of the wor's force, is essential to the survival of imperialism. Thus, even if the black liberation movement chose to try to attain self-eletermination in the form of a separate country as legitimate part of the right to self-eletermination, existing side by side with the US, imperialism couldinors under the wor. It—and so would never give in without their defeated, Thus, a revolutionary nationalist movement could not win without destroying the state power of the imperialists; and it is for this reason that the black liberation movement, as a revolutionary nationalist involuement of itself an inseparable part of the whole revolutionary struggle against US imperialization for international socialism.

However, the fact that black liberation depends on withing the wildle revolution does not mean that delends or withing for and joining with a mass white No black self-determination could be woo which would movement to do it. The kenocidal oppression of black people must be ended, and does not allow any leisure people must be eneed, and does not allow any leasure time to wait; if necessary, black people could win self-determination, abolishing the whole imperialist system and selzing state power to do it, without this white movement, although the cost among whites and blacks both would be high.

Blacks could do it alone if necessary because of their centralness to the system, economically and their centrainess to the system, economically and gee-militarily, and because of the level of unity, commitment, and initiative which will be developed in waging a people's war for survival and national liberation. However, we do not expect that they will interaction. Nowever, we took expect this too? have to do it alone, not only because of the international situation, but also because the real interests of masses of oppressed whites in this country lie with the Black Liberation struggle, and the conditions for understanding and fighting for these interests grows with the deepening of the crises. Already, the black liberation movement has carried with it an upsurge of revolutionary consciousness among white youth; and while there are no guarantees, we can expect that this will extend and deepen among all oppressed whites.

To put aside the possibility of blacks winning alone leads to the racist position that blacks should wait for whites and are dependent on whites acting for them to win. Yet the possibility of blacks winning alone cannot in the least be a justification for whites falling to shoulder the burden of developing a revolutionary movement among whites. If the first error is racism by holding back black liberation, this would be equally by holding back black liberation, this would be equally racist by leaving blacks isolated to take on the whole fight—and the whole cost—for everyone.

It is necessary to idefeat both racist tendencies:
(1) that blacks shouldn't go ahead with making the revolution, and (2) that blacks should go ahead alone with making it. The only third path is to build a white movement which will support the blacks in moving as (ast as they have to and are able to, and still itself keep up with that black movement enough so that white revolutionaries share the cost and the blacks don't have to do the whole thing alone. Any white who does not follow this third path is objectively following one of the other two (or both) and is objectively racist.

V. ANTI-IMPERIALIST REVOLUTION AND THE UNITED FRONT

strategy for defeating imperialism in semi feudal colonies has two stages, the new.democratic stage of a united front to throw out imperialism and then the socialist stage, some people suggest two stages for the US too—one to stop imperialism, the anti-imperialist stage, and another to achieve the dictator stup of the prolekariat, the socialist stage. It is no accident that even the proponents of this idea can't tell you what it means. In reality, imperialism is a predatory international stage of capitalism. Defeating imperialism within the US couldn't possibly Defeating imperialism within the US couldn't possibly have the content which it could in a semi-reudal country, of replacing imperialism with capitalism or new democracys when imperialism is defeated in the US; it will be replaced by 'socialism-mothing else. One revolution, one replacement process, one seizure of state power—the anti-imperialist revolution and the socialist revolution, one and the same stage. To talk of this is two separate stages, the struggle to overthrow imperialism and the struggle for socialist revolution, is as crazy as if Marx had talked about the proletarian-socialist revolution as a revolution of two stages, one this overthrow of capitalist state power, and second the establishment of socialist state power.

Along with no two stages, there is no united front with the petit bourgeoiste, because its interests as a class aren't for replacing imperialism with socialism. As far as people within this country are concerned, the international war against imperialism is the same task as the socialist revolution, for one overthrow of power here. There is no united front for socialism here.

One reason people have considered the "united front' idea is the fear that if we were talking about a one-stage so-cialist revo. I on we would fall to organize maximum roossible, support mong people, like some jetit bourgebiste, who will dight imperialism on a particular issue, but weren't for revolution. When the petit bourgeoiste's interest is for fighting imperialism on a particular issue, but not for overthrowing it and stall control is with sections. on a particular issue, but not for overthrowing it and replacing it with socialism. It is still contributing to revolution to that extent—not to some intermediate thing which is not imperialism and not socialism. Someone not for revolution is not for actually deteating imperialism either, but we still san and should unite with them on particular issues. But this is not a united front (and we should not put forth some joint "united front [line with them to the exclusion of our jown politica), because theriff class postion isn't against imperialism as a system. In China, or Vietnam, the metit bourgeoiste's class interiests could be for actually winning against imperialism; this was because their last, was driving it jout, not overthrowing its whole existence. For jus here, "throwing it out" means into from one colony, but, all of them, throwing it out the world, we same thing is overthrowing it.

VI. INTERNATIONAL STRATEGY AND THE BLACK VANGUARD

What is the strategy of this international revolutionary movement? What are the strategic weaknesses of the imperialists which make it possible for us to win? Revolutionaries around the world are in general agreement on the answer, which Lin Piao describes in the following way:

"US imperialism is stronger, but also more vulnerable, than any imperialism of the past. It sets itself against the people of the whole world, including the people of the United States.
Its human, military, material and financial resources are far from sufficient for the realization of its ambition of domination over the whole world. US imperialism has further weakened itself by occupying so many places in the world, over-reaching itself, stretching its fingers out wide and dispersing its strength, with its rear so far away and its supply lines so long."
- Lin Piao,

Long Live the Victory of Peocle's War.

The strategy which flows from this is that Che called "creating two, three, many Vietnams"—to mobilize the struggle so sharply in so many places that the imperialists cannot possibly deal with it all. Since it is essential to their interests, they will try to deal with it all, and will be defeated and destroyed in the process.

In defining and implementing this strategy, it is clear that the vanguard (that is, the section of the people who ar- in the forefront of the struggle and whose class ar in the forefront of the struggle and whose class interests and needs define the terms and tasks of the revolution) of the "American Revolution" is the workers and oppressed peoples of the colonies of Asia, Africa and Latin America. Because of the level of special oppression of black people as a colony they reflect the interests of the oppressed people of the world from within the borders of the United States; they are part of the Third World and part of the international revolutionary vanguard.

The vanguard role of the Vietnamese and other Third World countries in defeating US imperialism has been clear to our movement for some time. What has not been so clear is the vanguard role black people have played, and continue to play, in the development of revolutionary consciousness and struggle within the United States. Criticisms of the black liberation struggle as being "reactionary" or of black organizations on campus as being conservative or "racist" very often express this lack of understainling. These ideas are incorrect and must be defepted if a revolutionary movement is going to be built among whites.

The black colony, due to its particular nature as a slave colony, never adopted a chauvinist identification with America as an imperialist power, either politically or culturally. Moreover, the history of black people in America has consistently been one of the greatest overall repudiation of and struggle against the state. overain reputation of and struggle against the sates. From this siave ships from Africa to the slave revolts, the Civil War, etc., black people have been waging a struggle for survival and liberation. In the history of our own movement this has also been the case: the civil rights struggles, initiated and led by blacks in the South; the rebellions beginning with Harlem in 1964 and Watts in 1965 through Detroit and Newark in 1967; the campus struggles at all-black schools in the south the campus struggles at all-black schools in the south and struggles led by blacks on campuses all across the country. As it is the blacks—along with the Vietnamese and other Third World people—who are most oppressed by US imperfule, their class interests are most suild; and resolutely connected to waging providuonary struggle through on its completion. Therefore it is no scient, in the completion of the completion of the completion of the completion.

Therefore it is no scient. In time and again, in both philitical content and level of consciousness and militancy, it has been the back liberation movement which has upped the ante and defined the terms of the struggle.

What is the relationship of this black vanguard to the "many Vietnams" around the world? Obviously this is an example of our strategy that different fronts reinforce each other. The fact that the Vietnamese are winning weakens the enemy; advancing the possibilities for the black struggle, etc. But it is important for using understand that the interrelationship is more than the struggle because they want to help the Vietnamese, their struggle because they want to help the Vietnamese, or because they see that Vietnam heightens the cossibilities for struggle here. The existence of any one Vietnam, especially a wiming one, spurs or others not only through consclousness and choice, but throughneed, because it is a political and economic, as well as military, weakening of capitalism, and this means that to compensate, the imperialists are forced to intensify their oppression of other people. Thus the loss of China and the are forced to intensify their oppression of other people. Thus the loss of China and the same not only encourages other oppressed peoples (such as the blacks) by showing what the alternative is and that it can be won, but also costs the imperialists billions of dollars which they then have to take out of the oppression of these other peoples, within this country increased oppression falls heavier on the most oppressed sections of the population, so that the condition of all workers is workened through rising takes, thation and the fall of real wages, and speedup. But this increased oppression falls heaviers on the most oppressed, such as poor white workers and, especially, the blacks, for example through the collapse of stake so vides like schools, hospitals, and welfars, which is arrail; his the hardest at those most dependent on them. This deterioration pushes people to fight harder to even try to maintain their present level. The more the ruling class is hurt in Victuam, the harder people, will be pushed to rebel and to fight for reforms. Because there exist successful models of revolution in Cuba, Victuam, etc., these reform struggles will provide a continually larger and stronger base for revolutionary will be pushed to rebel and to fight for reforms. Because there exist successful models of revolution in Ciba, Vietnam, etc., these reform struggles will provide a continually larger and stronger base for revolutionary ideas. Because it needs to maximize profits by denying the reforms, and is aware that these conditions and reform struggles will therefore lead to revolutionary consciousness, the ruling class will see it more and more necessary to come down on any motion at all, even where it is not yet highly organized or conscious. It will come down faster on black people, because their rebellion most thorough and most dangerous, and fastest growing. It is because of this that the vanguarti character and role of the black liberation struggle will be increased and intersified, rather than being 'creasingly equal to and mcreed into the situation and rebellion of oppressed white working people and youth. The crises of limperialism (the existence of Vietnam and especially that it's winning) will therefore create a "black Victnam" within the US.

Given that black self-determination would crushing the power of the imperialists, this "Vietnam" and colonial wars. The imperialists will never "get out of the US" until their total strength and every resource they can bring to bear has been smashed; so the Black Vietnam cannot win without bringing the whole thing down and winning for everyone. This means; that this war of liberation will be the most protracted and hardest fought of all.

It is in this context that the question of the South must

It is in this context that the question of the South must be dealt with again, not as a question of whether or no the black nation, black colony, edits there, as opposed to in the north as well, but rather as a practical question of strategy and tactics: Can the black liberation struggle
— the struggle of all blacks in the country — gain advantage in the actual war of liberation by concentrating advantage in the actual war of liberation by encentrating on building base areas in the South in territory with a concentration of black population?

This is very clearly a different question than that of where the colony is, and to this question the "yes" answer is an important possibility. If the best potential for struggle in the South were realized, it is fully conceivable and legitimate that the struggle there could take on the character of a fight for separation; and any victories won in that direction would be limportant gains for the national liberation of the colonyas a whole-however, because the colony is dispersed oyer the whole country, and not just located in the black belt, winning still means the power and liberation of blacks in the vible country.

still means the power and interation of opaces in the bountry.

Thus, even the winning of separate indegendence in the South would still be one step toward self-determination, and not equivalent to winning it; which, because of the economic position of the colony as la whole, would still require overthrowing; the state power of the imperialists, taking over production and the whole sconomy and nower lets. whole economy and power, etc.

VII: THE REVOLUTIONARY YOUTH MOVEMENT: CLASS ANALYSIS

The revolutionary youth movement program was halled as a transition strategy, which explained a lot of our past work and pointed to new directions for our movement. But as a transition the wat? What was our overall strategy? Was the youth movement strategy just an organizational strategy because SIS is an organization of youth and we can move best with other young people?

We have pointed to the vanguard nature of the black struggle in this country as part of the international strategy for winning, Any attempt to put forth a strategy which despite internationals referred in the country. Its incorrect, The Vietnamese (and the Urupusyans and the Rhodesians) and the blacks and Third World peoples in this country will continue to set the terms fory class struggle in America. In this context, why an emphasis on youth? Whyshold young people be willing to fight on the side of Third World peoples? Before dealing with this question about youth, however, there follows a brief sietch of the main class categories in the white mother country which we think are important, and indicate our present estimation of their respective class interests (bearing in mind that the potential for various sections to understand and fight for the revolution will vary according to more than just their real class interests). Most of the population is of the working class, by which we mean not simply industrial or production workers, nor those who are actually working, but the whole section of the population which doesn't own productive property and so lives off of the sale of its labor power. This is not a metaphysical categoriether in terms of its interests; the role it plays of even who is in it, which very often is difficult to determine.

As a whole, the long range interests of the non-cole...al As a whole, the long-range interests of the non-cole...ia: sections of the working class lie with overthrowing imperialism, with subporting self-determination for the oppressed nations (lincluding the black colony), with supporting and fighting for international socialism. However, virtually all of the white working class also has short-range privileges from imperialism, which has not false privileges but very real ones which give them an edge of vested interest and tie them to a certain extent to the imperialists, especially when the latter are in a relatively prosperous phase. When the imperialists are losing their empire, on the other hand, these short-ranged privileged interests are seen to be temporary (even though the privileges may be relatively greater over the faster increasing relatively greater over the taster increasing emiseration of the oppressed peoples). The long-range interests of workers in siding with the oppressed peoples are seen core clearly in the light of simperialism's impending defeat. Within the wholeworking class, the balance of arti-imperialist class interests with white mother country short-term privilege varies greatly.

First, the most oppressed sections of the mother country working class have interests most clearly and strongly anti-imperialist. Who are the most oppressed sections of the working class? Millions of whites who have as oppressive material conditions as the blacks, or almost so: especially, poor southern white workers; the unemployed or semi-employed, or those employed at very low wages for long hours and bad conditions, who are non-unionized or have weak unions; and extending up to include much of unionized labor which has it a little better off but still is heavily oppressed and exploited. This category covers a wide range and includes the most oppressed sections not only of production and service workers, but also some secretaries, clerks, etc. Much of this category gets some relative privileges. Cic. benefits, from imperialism, which constitute some material basis for being racist or pro-imperialist; but overall it is itself directly and heavily oppressed, so that in addition to its long-range base interest on the side of the péople of the world, its immediate situation also constitutes a strong basis for sharpening the struggle against the state and fighting through to revolution. tter off but still is heavily oppressed and exploited.

Secondly, there is the upper strata of the working class. This is also an extremely broad category, including the upper strats of undodized skilled workers and also most of the "new working class" of proletarianized or semi proletarianized "intellect workers." There is no clearly marked dividing line between the previous "section and this one; our conclusions in dealing with "questionable" strata will in any event have to come from more thorough analysis of particular situations. The long-range class interests of this strata, like the previous section of more oppressed workers, are for the revolution and against imperialism. However, it is characterized by a higher fevel of privilege relative to the oppressed colonies, ancluding the blacks, and relative to more oppressed workers in the mother country; so that there is a strong material basis for racism and toyalty to the system. In a revolutionary situation, where the people's forces were on the offensive and the ruling class was clearly losing, most of this upper strata of the gworking class will be winnable to the revolution; while it least some sections of it will probably identify their interests with imperialism till the end and oppose the respitution which parts. It which will have to fo with more variables than just the naricular level of privilege). After further development of the situation will clarify where this section will consider employed workers from this strata at this time. The exception is where they are important to the black liberation and the international revolution against US imperialism. This is crudial because the privilege). After the section and the international revolution against US imperialism. This is crudial because the privilege of the section and the international revolution against US imperialism. Secondly, there is the upper strata of the working extremely broad category s is crucial because the privilege of this section the working class has provided and will provide a ong material basis for national chauvinist and social mocratic ideology within the movement, such as nti-internationalist [concepts of student power," and workers control." Another consideration in "workers control." Another consideration in understanding the interests of this segment is that, because of the way it developed and how its skills and its privileges were "earned over time," the differential between the position of youth and older workers is in many ways greater for this section than any other in the population, we should continue to see it as important to build, the revolutionary youth movement among the o duid, the revolutionary youth movement among the youth of this strata.

Thirdly, there are "middle strata" who are not petit ourgediste, who may even technically be upper working last, but who are so privileged and tightly t'ed to mperialism through their job roles that they are agents in the proper strategy includes management panel, corporate lawyers, higher civil servants, other government agents, army officers, etc.

Hecause their job categories require and promote a close foothfication with the interests of the ruling class, these strata are enemies of the revolution.

Fourthly, and last among the categories we're going to deal with, is the petit bourgeoisie. This class is different. from the middle level described above, in that it has independent class interest which is opposed to both monopoly power, and to succellism. The petit bourgeoiste of small capital -both busine and self-employed tradesmen and professionals (many professionals work for monopoly capital, and are either the upper level of the working class or in the agents-of-imperialism category). The content of its independent class interests—anti-monopoly capital but for capitalism rather than socialism—gives it a political character of some opposition to big government, like character of some opposition to "olg government, the its increased spending and taxes and its totalitarian extension of its control into every aspect of life, and to "big labor," which is at this time itself part of the monopoly capitalist power structure. The direction which this opposition takes can be reactionary or reformist. At this time the reformist side of it is very much miticated by the extent to which the independence of the petit bourgeoisie is being undermined. Increasingly, small businesses are becoming extensions of big ones, while professionals and self-employed tradesmen less and less sell their skills on their own terms and beco employees of big firms. This tendency does not mean that the reformist aspect is not still present; it is, and there are various issues, like, withdrawing from a losing imperialist war, where we could get support from them. On the question of imperialism as a system, however, their class interests are generally more for it than for overthrowing it, and it will be the deserters from their class who stay with us.

VIII. WHY A REVOLUTIONARY YOUTH MOVEMENT?

In terms of the above analysis, most young people in the US are part of the working class. Although not yet employed, young people whose parents sell their lazon power for wages, and more important who themselves expect to do the same in the future—or go into the army or be unemployed are undeniably members of the working class, Must kids are well aware members of the working class, Most kids are well aware of what class they are in, even though they may not be very isclentific about it. So our, analysis assumes from the teginning that youth struggles are, by and large, working class struggles. But why the focus now on the struggle of working class youth rather than on the working class as a whole?

The potential for revolutionary consciousness does not always always chrespond to ultimate class interest, particularly when imperfaliam is relatively prosperous and the imovement is in an early stage. At this stage, we see working class right as those most open to a revolutionary movement which sides with the struggles of Third World (people) the following is, attempt to explain a strategic focus on youth for SDS.

attempt to explain a strategic focus on youth for SDS. In general, young people have less stake in a society in family, young people nave less state in a society for family, fewer debts, etc.); are more open to new ideas (they have not been brainwashed for so long or so well), and are therefore more able and willing to move it a fevolutionary direction. Specifically in America, young people have grown up experiencing the crises in imperialism. They have grown up along with crises in imperation, they have grown up atong with the liberation of Cuba, the flights for independence in Africa, and the war in Vietnam. Older people grew up during the flight against Fascism, during the cold war, the smashing of the trade unions, McCarthy, and a period during which real liberations are all the cold that the cold war, the smashing of the trade unions, McCarthy, and a period during which real liberations are described to the cold war. uuring which real wages consistently rose—since 1985 disposable real income has decreased slightly, particularly in urban areas where inflation and increased taxation have bitten heavily into wages. This crisis in imperialism affects all parts of the society. America has had to militarize to protect and expand its Empire; herice the high draft calls and the creation of a standing army of three and a half million, an army which still has been unable to win in Vietnam. Further, the high defense expeditures—required for the defense of the amply had a later. has been unable to win in Vietnam. Further, the hige defense "expeditures + required for the defense of the empire and at the same time a way of making increasing profits for the defense industries—have gone hand in hand with the urban crists around welfare, the hospitals, the schools, housing, air, and water poliution. The State cannot provide the services it has been forced to assume responsibility for, and needs to increase taxes and to e pay its growing debts while it cuts services and uses the pigs to repress protest. The private sector of the economy can't provide jobs, particularly unskilled jobs.

The expansion of the defense and education industries

by the State since World War II is in part an attempt to pick up the slack, though the inability to provide decent wages and working conditions for public jobs is more and more a problem.

As imperialism struggles to hold together this ds interpation struggers to note together and decaying social fabric, it inevitably resorts to brute force and authoritarian ideology. People, especially young people, more and more find themselves in the tron grip of authoritarian institutions, Reaction against the pigs or teachers in the schools, welfare pigs or the army is generalizable and extends beyond the porticular repressive institution to the society and the State as a whole. The legitimacy of the State is called into question for the first time in at least 30 years, and the anti-huthoritarianism which characterizes the youth rebellion turns into rejection of the State, a refusal socialized into American society. Kids used to

to be socialized into American society. Kide used to try to beat the system from inside the army or from inside the schools; now they desert from the army or from the schools.

The crisis in imperialism has brought about a breakdown in bourgeois social forms, culture and ideology. The family falls apart, kids leave home, women begin to break out of traditional "female" and "mother" roles. There develops a "generation gap" and a "youth problem," Our heroes are no longer struggling businessmen, and we also begin to reject the ideal career of the professional and look to Mao, Che, the Panthers, the Third World, for our models, for motion. We reject the ellists, technocratic bullishit that tells us only experts can rule, and look instead to leadership only experts can rule, and look instead to leadership from the people's war of the Vietnamese. Chuck Berry, from the people's war of the Vietnamese. Chuck Berry, Elvis, the Temptations brought us closer to the "people's culture" of Black America. The racist response to the tivil rights molyement revealed the depth of racism in America, as well as the impossibility of real change through American institutions. And the war 'against' rights in not "the heroic war against the Nazis", a's the big lie, with napalm burning through everything, we had heard this country stood for. Kids begin to ask duestions: Where is the Free World? And who do the estions: Where is the Free World? And who do the igs protect at home?

The breakdown in bourgeois culture and concomitant: anti-authoritarianism is fed by the crisis in imperialism, but also in turn feeds that crisis, exacerbates it so that people no longer merely want the plastic '50s restored, but glimpse an alternative (like inside the Columbia bildings) and begin to fight for it. We don't want teachers to be more kindly coose, we want to smash coose, and build a new life.

tdachers to be more kindly coosi we want to smash cops, and build a new life.

The contradictions of decaying imperialism fall hardest on youth in four distinct areas—the schools, clost, the draft and the army, and the pigs and the courts.

(4) In jail-like schools, kids are fed a mish mash of recist, male chauvinist, and working velass, and communist lies while being shamelled into and career baths est un according to the contraction. job and career paths set up according to the priorities of monopoly capital. At the same time, the State is of monopoly capital. At the same time, the State, is, becoming increasingly incapable of providing enough money to keep the schools going at all, 68 Youth unemployment is three times average unemployment. As more jobs are threatened by, automation or the collapse of specific industries, unions act to secure jobs for those already employed. New people in the labor market can't find jobs; job stability is undermined the collapse of increasing sended unions and more so because of increasing speed-up, and more olerable safety conditions) and people are less and so going to work in the same shop for 40 years, and, less going to work in the same shop for 40 years, And, of course, when they do find jobs, young people get the worst ones and have the legat seniority. (C) There are now two, and a half million soldiers under thirty who are forced to colice the world, full and be killed in wars of imperialist domination, And (D) as a "youth problem" develops out of all this, the pigs and courts enforce courses, set up not busts, keep people off the streets, and repress any youth motion whatsover:

In all of this, it is not that life in America, is toughest for youth or that they are the most operators.

in all of this, it is not that life in America, is toughest youth or that they are the most oppressed Rather, is that young people are hurt directly—and severely by imperialism. And, in being less tightly tied by that tem, they are more "pushed" to jdin the black pratton struggle against US imperialism. Among young the property of t nobration struggle against us imperiaism, among young people there is less of a material base for racism—they have no seniority, have not spent 20 years secturing a skilled job (the white monopoly of which is increasingly challenged by the black liberation movement), and aren't have all the above the properties of the people of the peop about to pay off a 25-year mortgage on a house the is valuable because it's located in a white

(continued from previous page) oppressed (least privileged) sections class. Clearly these youth have the greatest materia. base for struggle. They are the ones who most often get drafted, who, get the worst jobs if they get any, who are most abused by the various institutions of social control from the army to decaying schools, to the pigs and the courts. And their day to-day existence indicates a potential for militancy and toughness. They are the le whom we can reach who at this stage are most ready to engage in militant revolutionary struggle.

The point of the revolutionary youth movement ready to engage in mittant revolutionary struggie.

The point of the revolutionary youth movement strategy is to move from a predominant student elite base to more oppressed (less privileged) working class youth as a way of deepening and expanding the revolutionary youth movement—not of giving up what we have gained, not giving up our old car for a new we have gained, not giving up our old car for a new Dodge! This is part of a strategy to reach the entire working class to engage, in struggle against imperialism; moving from more privileged sections of white working class youth to more oppressed sections to the entire working class as a whole, including importantly what has classically been called the industrial proletariat. But this should not be taken to mean that there is a magic moment, after we reach a certain percentage of the working class, when all of a sudden we become a working class movement. We are already that if we put forward internationalist proletarian politics. We also forward internationalist prolectrian politics. We also don't have to walt to become a revolutionary force. We must be a self-conscious revolutionary force from the beginning, no be a movement which takes issues to some mystical group—"THE PEOPLE"—who will make the revolution. We must be a revolutionary movement of people understanding the necessity to reach more people, all working people, as we make the revolution

The above arguments make it clear that it is both important and possible to reach young people wherever they are—not only in the shops, but also in the schools, in the army, and, in the streets—so as to recruit them to fight on the side of the oppressed peoples of the world. Young people will be part of the International Liberation Army. The necessity to build this International Liberation Army in America leads to certain priorities in practice for the revolutionary youth movement which we should begin to apply this summer...

IX. IMPERIALISM IS THE ISSUE

The Communists are distinguished from the other working class parties by this only: 1. In the national struggles of the proletariat of different countries, they point out and bring to the front the common interests of the entire proletariat, independently of all nationality, 2. In the various stages of development which the struggle of the working class against the bourgeoisie has to pass through, they always and everywhere represent the interests of the movement as a whole." (Communist Manifesto)

we reach youth; what kinds of struggles do we build; how do we make a revolution? What we have tried to lay out so far is the political content of the consciousness which we want to extend and develop as a mass consciousness; the necessity to build our power as part of the whole international revolution to smash the state power of the imperialists and build socialism. Besides consciousness of this task, we must involve masses of people in accomplishing it. Yet we are faced with a situation in which almost all of the people whose interests are served by these goals, and who should be, or even are, sympathetic to revolution, neither junderstand the specific tasks involved in making neither understand the specific disks involved in making a revolution nor participate in accomplishing them. On the whole, people don't join revolutions just because revolutionaries tell, them to. The oppression of the system affects people in particular ways, and the development of political consciousness and participation begins with particular problems, which turn into issued and struggles. We must transform people's everyday problems, and the issues and struggles growing out of them. Into revolutionary consciousness. them, Into revolutionary consciousness, active and conscious opposition to racism and imperialism. This is, directly counterposed to assuming that struggles around immediate issues will lead naturally over time to struggle against imperialism. It has been argued that since people's oppression is due to imperialism and racism, then any struggle against immediate oppression is "bijectively anti-imperialism," and the development of the fight against imperialism, as a succession of lights for reforms. This error is classical tenomism. classical economis

A variant of this argument admits that this position

A variant of this argument admits that this position is often wrong, but suggests that since imperialism is collapsing at this time, fights for reterms become opportunities at the stage of imperialism, there phytosys will be more and more struggles for the improvement of material conditions, but that is no guarhitee of increasing internationalist processing a consciousness.

On the one hand, if we as revolutionaries, are capable of understanding the necessity to smash imperialism and build socialism, then the masses of people who we want to fight along with als are capable of that understanding on the other finale, people are between the production is not raised at every opportunity, then how can we expect people of see if in their interests, or to undertake the burdens of revolution? We need to tion. But if we are so careful to avoid the dangers revolution. But it we are so careful to wood the danger's of reformism, how do we relate to particular reform struggles? We have to develop some sense of how to relate each particular issue to the revolution, in every case, our aim if to revise anti-imperialist and anti-racist consciousness and the the struggles of working class youth (and all working people) to the struggles of Third World people, rainer than merely igining fights to improve material conditions over though these fights are certainly justified. This is not to key diat we don't take immediate fights seriously, or figure hard in them, but that we are always up front with our politics, knowing that people in the course of struggle are open to a class line, ready to move beyond narrow self-interest.

It is in this sense that we point out that the particular issue is not the issue, is important insofar as it points to imperialism as an enemy that has to be destroyed Imperialism is always the issue, Opviously, the issue cannot be a good illustration, or a powerful symbol, if it is not real to people, if it doesn't relate to the concrete oppression that imperialism causes. People have to be (and are being) hurt in some material way to understand the evils of imperialism, but what we must stress is the systematic nature of oppression and the way in which a single manifestation of imperialism makes clear its fundamental nature. At Columbia it was not the gym, in particular, which was important in the struggle, but the way in which the gym represented, people of Harlem and Columbia, Columbia's imperialist invasion of the black colony. Or at Berkeley, though people no doubt needed a park (as much, however, as man, other things?), what made the struggle so important was that people, at all levels of militancy, consciously saw themselves attacking private property and the power of the state. And the Richmond Oil Strike was exciting because the militant fight for improvement of material conditions was part and parcel of an attack on infernational monopoly capital. The numbers and milliancy of people mobilized for these struggles has consistently surprised the left, and pointed to the potential power of a class-conscious mass mover potential power of a class-conscious mass movement.

The masses will fight for socialism when they understand that reform fights, fights for improvement of material conditions, caunot be won under imperiallym, with this understanding, revolutionaries should never put forth a line which fosters the illusion that put forth a line which fosters the illusion that imperialism will grant significant reforms. We must engage in struggles forthrightly as revolutionaries, so that it will be clear to anyone we help to win gains that the revolution rather than imperialism is responsible for them. This is one of the strengths of the Black Pantiler Party Breakfast for Children the Black Pantier Party Breaklast for Universel Program it is "socialism inpractice" by revolutionalles with the "practice" of armed self-defense and a "line" which stresses the mecessity of overthrowing imperialism and seizing state power. Probably the American Friends Service Committee serves more children breakfast, but it is the symbolic value of the program in demonstrating what socialism will do for people which makes it worthwhile.

What does it mean to organize around racism and imperialism in specific struggles? In the high schools colleges) at this time, it means putting forth a mass line to close down the schools, rather than to reform n so that they can serve the people. The reason this line is not that under capitalism the schools cannot serve the people, and therefore it is silly or illusory to demand that. Rather it is that kids are ready for the full scope of militant struggle, and already demonstrate a consciousness of imperialism, such that struggles for a people-serving school would not raise the level of their struggle to its highest possible point. the level of their struggle to its highest possible point. Thus, in tell a kid in New York that imperialism tracks him and thereby oppresses him is often small potatoes compared to his consciousness that imperialism oppresses him by jailing him pigs and all, and the only thing to do is break out and tear up the jail. And even where high school kids are not yet engaged in such sharp struggle, it is crucial not to build consciousness only around specific issues such as tracking or ROTC or racist teachers, but to use these issues to build toward the general consciousness that the schools should be shut down. It may be important to present a conception of what's chools should for could to present a conception of what schools should or could be like (this would include the abolition of the distinction between mental and physical work), but not offer this total conception as really possible to fight for in any but through revolution.

mass line to close down the schools or colleges

oes not contradict demands for open admissions ollege or any other good reform demand, agitation emands for impossible, but responsible, reforms a good way to make a revolutionary point. The deman or open admissions by asserting the alternative to the open admissions to reforms ar ative to the propen admissions by asserting the alternative to the present (school) system exposes'ts undaraental nature—that it is racist, class-based, and closed—pointing to the quiy possible solution to the present situation:

Shut it down! The impossibility of real open imissions—all black and brown people admitted, no link-out, full scholarship, under present conditions the best reason (that the schools show no possibility real reform) to shut the schools down We should not throw away the pieces of victories we gain from these struggles, for any kind of more open admissions means that the school is closer to closing down (it costs the schools more, there are more militant blacks and browns making more and more fundamental demands on the schools, and so on). Thus our line in the schools. terms of pushing any good reforms should be, "op em up and shut them down!"

The spread of black caucuses in the shops and other The spread of black caucuses in the shops and omer workplaces throughout the country is an extension of the black liberation struggle. These groups have raised and will continue to raise and racist issues to white workers in a sharper fashion than any whites ever have of could raise them. Blacks leading istruggles against the property of the proper racism has made the issue unavoidable, as the black student movement leadership did for white students. At the same time these black groups have led fights which traditional trade-union leaders have consistently refused to lead—fights against speed up and for safety fissues which have become considerably more serious in the last few years), forcing white workers, particularly the more oppressed, to choose in another way between allegiance to the white mother country and black leadership. As white mother country radicals black leadership. As white mother country radicals, we should try to be in shops, hospitals, and companies where there are black caucuses, perhaps organizing solidarity groups, but at any rate pushing the importance of the black liberation struggle to whites, handing out for Panther rallies, and so on. Just for white guy could play a crucial role in countering UAW counter-linsurgency. We also need to relate to workplaces where there is not black motion but where there is the country of the countr

As a result, we have a very limited understanding of the tie-up between imperialism and the women question, although we know that since World War II the differential between imen's and, women's wages has increased, and guess that the breakdown of the family is crucial to the woman question diow do we organize women against racism and imperialism without submerging the principled revolutionary euestion. Or women's liberation? We have no real answer, but we recognize the real reactionary idanger of women's groups that are not self-consciously revolutionary and anti-imperialist. anti-imperialist. .

To become more relevant to the growing women' movement, SDS women should begin to see as a primary responsibility the self-conscious of gantzing of women. X. NEIGHBORHOOD-BASED CITY-WIDE YOUTH MOVEMENT

One way to make clear the nature of the system and our tasks working off of separate struggles is to the them together with each other: to show that we're one "multi-issue" movement, not an alliance of high school "multi-issue" 'movement, not an amance of man and college students, or students and Gl's, or youth and college students and the black community. The way workers, or students and the black community. The way to do this is to build organic regional or subregional and city-wide movements, by regularly bringing in one institution or area to fights going on on other,

This works on two levels. Within a reighborhood, by bringing hids to different fights, and relating these fights to each other—high school stuff, colleges, housing, fights to each other—high school stuff, colleges, housing, welfare, shops—we begin to build one neighborhood based multi-issue movement off of them. Besides actions and demonstrations, we also pull different geople to demonstrations, we also pull different geople to gether in day-to-day film showings, rallies, for speakers and study groups, etc. On it second level, we combine neighborhood "bases" into a city-wide or region-wide movement by doing the same kind of thing; concentrating our forces at whatever important struggles are going on and building more ongoing inter-relationships off of that.

The importance of specifically neighborhood-based The importance of specifically neighborhood-based organizing is illustrated by our greatest falling in RYM practice so far—high school organizing. In most cities we don't know the kids who have been theiring up and burning down the schools. Our approach has been elitist, renating to often baseless city-wide groups by bringing them our line, or picking up kids with a false understanding of "politics" rather han those whose practice demonstrates their concrete anti-imperialist consciousness that schools are prisons. We've been consciousness that schools are prisons. We've been unwilling to work continuously with high as we did in building up college chapters. We will only reach the high school kids who are in motion by being in the schoolyards, hangouts and on the streets on an every-day basis. From a neighborhood base high school kids could be effectively tied in to struggles around other institutions and issues, and to the anti-imperialist nt as a whole.

we will try to involve neighborhood kids who aren't in high schools too; take them to anti-war or anti-racism fights, stiff in the schools, etc.; and at the same time reach and pore broadly through newspapers, films, storetronts. Activists and cadres who are recruited in this work will help expand and deepen the movement in new eighborhoods and high schools. Mostly we will still be tied in to the college-based movement in the same area, be influencing its direction away from campus-oriented provincialism, be recruiting high school kids into it where it is real enough and be recruiting organizers out of it. In its most developed form, this neighborhood-based movement would be a kind of sub-region. In places where the movement wasn't so strong this would be an important form for being close to kids in a day-to-day way and yet be relating heavily to kids in la day-to-day way and yet be relating heavily to a lot of issues and political fronts which the same kids are involved with.

The second level is combining these neighborhoods into city-wide and regional movements. This would mean doing the same thing—bringing people to other flights going on—only of a larger scale relating to various blow-ups and regional mobilizations. Airexample is how a lot of people from different places went to San Francisco State, the Richmond Oli Strike, and now Berkeley. The existence of this kind of cross-motion San Francisco State, the Richmond Oil Strike, and now Berkeley. The existence of this kind of cross-motion makes jongoing organizing in other places of fafer and stronger, first by creating a pervasive politification, and second by relating everything to the most militant and advanced struggles going on so that they iffifuence and set the gace for a lot more people. Further, cities are a basic unit of organization of the whole-society in a way that neighborhoods aren't. For example, one front where we should be doing stuff is the courts; they are mostly organized city-wide, not by smaller areas. The same for the city overnment itself. Schools where kids on are in different neighborhoods from where they to go are in different neighborhoods from where they too on, and where they work. As a practical question of staying with people we pick up, the need for a city-wide or area-wide kind of orientation is already. felt in our movement.

Another failure of this year was making clear what the RYM meant for chapter members and students who weren't organizers about to leave their campus for a community college, high school, Gf organizing, shoos or 'neleghborhoods. One thing it means for them' is relating heavily to off-campus activities and struggles, as part of the city-wide motion. Not leaving the campus movement like people did for ERAP stuff; rather; people still organized on the campus participating, in off-campus struggles, the way they have by the past for national actions. Like the national actions, the city-wide ores will build the on-campus movement, not compete with it.

relation to many issues and groups, not just schools and the war and racism as they hit lat the schools. It will create a political context that non-students can relate in better, and be more useful to organizing among high school students, neighborhood kids, the mass of the school students, it will change the consciousness. people. In the process, it will change the consciousness of the students too; if the issues are right and the movement fights them, people will develop a commitment to the struggle as a whole, and an understanding of the need to be resolutionaries rather than a "student the need to be resulting a revolutionary youth movement, will depend on organizing in a lot of places where we haven't been, and just tying the student movement to other issues and struggles isn't a substitute for that. But given our limited resources we must also lead the on-campus motion into a RTM direction, and we can be also also the student with the state of the student with the student w the weed gains toward city-wide youth movements make great by doing it.

underly this multi - issue, Three ross-ins-tutional movement, on the neighborhood and city-vide levels, as to why it creates greater revolutionary conscidusness and active participation in

(1) Mixing different issues, struggles and groups demonstrates our analysis to people in a material way. We claim there is one system and so all these different problems have the same solution, revolution. If they are the same struggle in the end, we should make that clear from the beginning. On this basis we must aggressively smash the hotton that there can be outside agitators on a question pertaining to the imperialists. (2) "Relating to Motion": the struggle activity, the action, of the movement demonstrates our existence and strength to people in a material way. Seeing it happen, people give it more weight in their thinking. For the participants, involvement in struggle is the best education about the movement, the enemy and the class struggle. In a neighborhood or whole city the existence of some struggle is a catalyst for other struggles—it pushes people to see the movement as more important and urgent, and as an example and precedent makes it easier for them to follow. If the participants in a struggle are based in different institutions of parts of the city, these effects are participants in a struggie are obseen in interest institutions of parts of the city, these effects are multiplied. Varied participation helps the movement be seen as political (wholly subversive) rather than as separate grievance fights. As people in one section of int fight he side and identify closer with other sections, the mutual catalytic effect of their struggles

(2) We most build a movement oriented toward powers.

Revolution is a power struggle, and we must develop that understanding among people from the beginning. Pooling our resources area-wide and city-wide really coes increase our power in particular fights, as well as push a mutual-hid-in-struggle consciousness.

XL THE RYM AND THE PIGS

A major focus in our neighborhood and city-wide work A major rocus in our neugrnovinose and the various struggles around the state as the enemy, and thus point need for a movement oriented toward power to defeat it.

defeat it.

The pigs are the capitalist state, and as such define the limits of all political struggles; to the extent that ar revolutionary struggle shows signs of success, they come in and mark the point it can't go beyond. In the arry stages of struggle, the ruling class lets paren:s come down on high school kids, or jocks attack college chapters. When the struggle escalates the pigs come in, at Columbia, the left was arraid its struggle would be co-opted to anti-police brutality, cops off campus, and said piss weren't the issue and piss really are the issue and people will understand this, one way or another. They can have a liberal understanding that pigs are sweaty working-class barbarians who over-react and commit "polite brutaity" and so shouldn't be on campus. Or they can understand pigs as the prepressive impertalist state doing its job. Our job is not to avoid the issue of the pigs as, diverting from anti-imperialist struggle, but to emphasize that they are our real enemy if we fight that struggle to win.

Even when there is no organized political struggle, the pigs come down on people in everyday life in enforcing capitalist property relations, bourgeois laws, and bourgeois morality, they guard stores and factories and the rich and enforce credit and rent against the poor. The overwhelming majority of arrests in America are for crimes against property. The pigs will be coming down on the kids we're working with in the schools, streets, around dope; we should focus on them, them, out all the time, like the Panthers up. them out all the time," like the Fanthers to hould relate the daily oppression by the pig to their in political repression, and develop, at class standing of political power and armed force among

As we develop a base these two aspects of the pie role increasingly come logether. In the schools, pig is part, of daily oppression—keeping order in halls and lunch s, controlling smoking while at the same time prevent kids from handing out leaflets, and bust outs de agitators. The presence of youth, or youth with long hair, becomes defined as organized political struggle and the pigs react to it as such, More and more every-day activity is politically threatening, so pigs are suddenly more in evidence; this in turn generates political organization and opposition, and so Our task will be to catalyze this development, postures out or with the pig so as to define every struggle—schools (pigs out, pig institute, out), weldate (invading pig-protected office), the streets, (curfew and turf fights)—as a struggle against the needs of capitalism and the force of the state.

Pigs don't represent state power as an abstract rinciple; they are a power that we will have to vercume in the course of struggle or become relevant, revisionist, or dead. We must prepare principle; they are overcome in the concretely to meet their power because our lob is to the pigs and the army, and organize on that basis, beginnings should stress self-defense—building groups around karate classes, learning how to the street and around the neighborhood, medical training, popularizing and injoying toward (according to necessity) armed self-defense, all the time honoring and putting forth the principle that "political power comes out of the barrel of a gun." These self-defense groups would initiate pig surveillance patrols, visits to the big and courts when someone is busted, etc. busly the issues around the pig will not come by neighborhood alone; it will take at least cityde groups able to coordinate activities against d enemy—in the early stages, for legal and bati es and turning people out for demonstrations, resou: the power of the city-wide movement to what initially only a tenuous base in a neighborhood. mav es in one part of the city will not only provide for but materially aid similar motion in the Strugg lesso rest c the pigs are ultimately the glue—the necessory that holds the neighborhood-based and city-wide-movement together; all of our concrete needs lead to pushing the pigs to the fore as a political focus; (1) making institutionally oriented reform struggles, deal with state power, by pushing out struggle till either winning or getting plaged,

(2) Using the city-wide inter-relation of fleths to raise the level of struggle and further large-scale anti-pig ment-power consciousness. developing sportaneous anti-pig consciousness in our negl borhoods to an understanding of imperialism, class struggle and the state.

(4) and using the dity-wide movement as a platform for reinforcing and extending this politicization work; like by talking about getting together a city wide neighborhood-based mutual aid anti-pig self-defense network.

of this can be done through city-wide agitation and propaganda and picking certain issues—to have a central regional focus for the whole movement.

XII. REPRESSION AND REVOLUTION

As institutional fights and anti-pig self-defense off of them ittensity, so will the ruling class's repression of the ruling class's repression. Their escalation of repression will inevitably continue according to how threatening the movement is to deir power. Our task is not to avoid or end repression; that can always be done by pulling back, so we're not dangerous enough to require crushing. Sometimes it is correct to do that as a tactical retreat to survive to th again.
To defeat repression however, is not to stop it.

To win a war with an enemy as highly organized relationship with the active miss-based crowering. To win a war with an enemy as highly organized and centralists as the imperialists will require a clandestine) organization of revolutionaries, having also a unified "general sauft, that's, combined at some point with discipline under one centralized at come point with discipline under one centralized at some point with discipline under one centralized at some point with discipline under one centralized at some point with disciplination of revolutionaries must be a political organization as wall as military, what is generally called a "Markat-Leninist" party, How will we accomplish the building of this kind organization? It is clear that we couldn't somehow form such a party at life, since beauther to evidently belled a black righton.

What are these conditions?

One is that to have a unified centralized organization it is necessary to have a common revolutionary theory which explains, at cast generally, the nature of our revolutionary 1881s and how to accomplish them. It must be a set of ideas which have been tested and developed in the practice of resolving the important contradictions

In our works, second condition is the existence of revolutionary leadership tested in practice. To have a centralized party, under illegal and repressive conditions requires a centralized leadership, specific individuals with the undestrateding and the ability to unity and guide the movement it, the face of new problems and be-right-most of the time. Thirtify, and most Important, there must be the same revolutionary mass base mentioned earlier, or Queter revolutionary mass passe mentioned earlier, or Queter revolutionary mass passe mentioned earlier, or Queter revolutionary mass passe mentioned earlier, or Queter this there can't be the practical experience to prove whether or not atthough, or a leader, is any good at ell.

Without practical revolutionary activity on a mass scale the party could not est and draw tends of the party could not the same of the consistency base its survival on them. Expectally, no reconstrainty pages, such could possibly survive without religious than although on the atthe susper; and participation of masses

These conditions for the development of a recolutionary party in this country are the main "conditions" for winning. There are two kinds of tasks for us.

One is the organization of revolutionary collectives within the movement. Our theory must, come from practice, but it can't be developed in Isolabloa, only a collective pooling of our experiences can develop a this country, in the same way, pack can be eveloped in the complex conditions, in this country, the teams way, and complex conditions, in this country, the teams way, and complex conditions, in this country, in the same way, and complex conditions. Wa'd evelope and of the complex conditions, in the lessons of our work is not justife for indication of the lessons of our work is not justife task of specialists or leadings, but the responsibility of every revolutionary, or leadings, but the responsibility of every revolutionary or leadings, which prove themselves and apply that in the whole country, over time, those collectives which prove themselves, in practice to have necessary to get an accurate view of the whole movement and to apply that in the whole country, over time, those coult though the contribute toward the creation of a millied revolutionary.

The most important task for us toward making the revolution, and the work our collectives should engage in, as the creation of a mass revolutionary party will be impossible. A revolutionary party will be different from the traditional revisionals mass base of "sympathiers," Fabrie it is skin to the Red franch in China, based on the full participation and involvement of masses of people in the practice of making revolutions of masses of people in the practice of making revolution of masses of people in the practice of making revolution of masses of people in the practice of making revolution the violent and 'llegal struggle,' it is a movement of damerically opposed to the cliffst idea that only leaders are smart enough or interested enough to accept full revolutionary conclusions, it is a movement obtaint on the basis of fath in the masses of people. The last of collectives is to create this kind of movement. (The party is not a substitute for it, and in fact is freally dependent on the This will be done at this stage principally among youth, through implementing the Revolutionary Youth. the Cuban Revolution Proposal on

(The following resolution has been submitted to the National Convention by Karin Ashley, Gerry Long, and Julie Nichamint)

Shortly before his death in battle, Jose Marti (leader of the Cuban independence movement) wrote that he embraced the chance to give his life in the struggle, and with the independence of Cuba, to prevent the United States' extending itself throughout the Antilles and descending with this added force upon the countries: of our America." Marti died, and his hopes for true Cubas independence remained unfulfilled for sixty years; Coulan independent replanted undurtured to SAXY)ears, as United States imperfalism relendessly cerried out Marti's prophecy in Cuba and the entire Latin American continent. The United States rapidly became the center of world-wide imperfallim, all the while increasing its economic penetration and domination of Third World countries, particularly those in Latin America. Cuba countries, particularly mose in Latin America. Country to break out of US domination and control. Since our movement to destroy American imperialism from the inside is matricably linked with Third World liberation movements, we should understand in what ways the Cuban Revolution serves as an example for these struggles, and we should be prepared to offer it the most concrete support possible. This proposal contains position on the Cuban Revolution, a call to support North American origade to cut sugarcane in the 1970 Ten Million Ton harvest as a means of demonstrating our solidarity, and a call for a national educational program on the Cuban Revolution.

This period of American domination of Cuba This period of American domination of Cuba This period of American domination of Cuba This period of American domination of development of monopoly capitalism in the United States, and the mechanisms of exploitation and control of Cuba were an expression of this process. Cuba was a potential market for US surplus capital and manufactured goods, as well as a source of raw materials. As Boorstein put it?—"It was the 'American' monopolies that geared the Cuban economy to sugar, dominated its resources, suffocated its industry with the goods they pumped in, and drained out its foreign exchange for tuxuries." The North American economic domination of Cuba had its political expression in the "pseudo-republic" with its neo-colonial bourgeols parliamentary system, while the pseudo-republican government helped to stabilize and reinforce economic domination. The roots of the Cuban revolutionary struggle can be traced to this economic domination and political control, and the logic of the Cuban revolutionary process grow directly out of these are additions of forests.

of the Cuban revolutionary process grew directly out of these relations of forces.

Cuban Guerrilla War and the Lessons for Latin America

In order to be politically and economically independent, the first task of the Cuban revolutionaries was to setze power through armed struggle and defeat, of Batista's army. In this first phase of the revolutionary process, the strategy developed by the guerrillas for taking power represented a sharp break from the strategies that had been traditionally used in Latin. America, it contained the premises (outlined by Che in Guerrilla Warfare), that "popular forces can win a war against the army; (that) it is not necessary to wait until all conditions for making revolutions existent insurrection can create them; (and that) in wait until all conditions for making revolutions existthe insurrection can create them; (and that) in ubderdeveloped America the countryside is the basic area for armed fighting. In his speech to the OLAS (Latia American Solidarity Organization) Conference, Fidel stressed the difficulties which Cuban revolutionaries had experienced in getting the people to accept the idea that they could fight against a modern professional army and with. But it would have been a

The role of the guerrilla was to move the masse;

by carrying out exemplary actions and defeating the forces of Batista's army, thereby demonstrating that the repressive forces of the State were not all powerful. People's political consciousness grew out of confrontation and struggle. What distinguishes the true revolutionary from the false revolutionary is precisely this: one acts to move the masses, the other walts for the masses to have a consciousness already before starting to act.

In discussing the applicability of guerrilla struggle the road to power in the rest of Latin America, el said that Cuba is part of a "much wider movement on this continent than the movement constituted simply by the Communist Parties of Latin America, and table on the constitute simply by the Communist Parties of Latin America⁸ and that Cuba will "judge the content of organizations not by what they say they are but by what they prove they It is an illusion to believe that the Latin American revolutionary movement can succeed without armed struggle. And the guerrilla is the vanguard of that struggle; the nucleus of the revolutionary movement. "This does not mean," Fidel continued, "that the guerrilla movement can rise without any previous work; it does not mean that the guerrilla movement is something that can exist without political direction The guerrilla is organized by a political movement, by a political organization. What is unacceptable is the separation of military and political command and the idea that guerrillas can be directed from the cities. success of the Cuban guerrilla war was based on the opposite principle: unity of political and military command in the guerrilla force.

This organizational form must be combined with a a strategy of opening up many fronts against imperialism in Latin America. *The correlation of forces of the imperialists on this continent, the proximity of its american territory, the zeal with which they will end their dominions in this part of the world, and simultaneous struggle."

Neocolonialism in curvature of the extent of the cuban economy of the type of the extent of the agricultural and mineral products) and dir integrated into the world capitalist system. landowning class, although it sometimes possesses premercantile or semifeudal qualities, is not really a feudal class since its interests are subordinate to, and a function of, the international capitalist bourgeoisie. Similarly, the significant and powerful elements of the national bourgeoisie which dominate Latin American society, are themselves dominated and controlled by the imperialist bourgeoisie, serve as instruments of that class, and therefore must be considered as a comprador bourgeoiste. This comprador sector represents the largest grouping of the Latin American bourgeoisie. The sector which could be considered as the middle bourgeoisie (the most backward considered as the middle bourgeoisic (the most backward economically and technologically) is relatively, smail, due to the immense difficulty in competing in industry, commerce, and finance with the monopolies of the imperialist bourgeoisis. The petty bourgeoisis, on the other hand, is a fairly large sector, comprised of small businessmall artistate and the small control of the sector of the businessmen, artisans, service producing elements, lower members of state bureaucracies and professionals. The fundamental anti-imperialist alliance protessionals, the tundamental anti-imperialist alliance during the Cuban insurrection (and at present in Latin America) was between the workers, peasants, petty bourgeoiste and elements of the middle bourgeoiste and elements of the middle bourgeoiste aligned against the landowning class and the comparador hourgeoisie.

Once the Cuban revolution took power, it began a number of basic reforms (for example the agrarian reform and urban reform laws) which did not constitute reform and urban reform laws) which did not constitute a socialist program. However, these reforms were immediately opposed by the comprador bourgeoiste, and as class lines sharpened, the reformist program was necessarily converted into a socialist program. The anti-imperialist alliance became an anti-capitalist socialist alliance of the working class and peasants. So that within the context of the imperialist system our support of the context of the imperialist system. pursuing national goals of economic development mean overthrowing American domination and the chief instrument of that domination, the comparador bourgediste and its accomplices. The Cubsar and Insperialist revolution, became a socialist revolution, and as Fidel said, speaking of Cuba's historical position in Latin America:

are the first people of this continen the exploitation of man by man! It is true that we were the last to begin (to gain independence and free slaves), but it is also true that we have gone further (han anybody but it is also true that we have gone turner man anyonay else. The armed force of the Revolutionary Gover was their chief class weapon against internal enemies (counter - revolutionaries) and foreign enemies (counter - revolutionaries) (imperialists and their agents).

At the same time, efforts were begun to develop the Cuban economy. Speaking to workers at a May Day rally

"How many were there who could understand that a revolution did not mean that the people would simply enter an area of wealth, but that it meant that they would begin to create that wealth...? There wasn't even a political organization that represented the will and effort of all of the people. That is why we speak of the triumph of the rebellion instead of the revolution."

Cubans see work as the battle of their new the war of a Revolution in power against underdevelopment, and they see the Party as the vanguard of that struggle, During the Revolutionary War the guerrillas were the vanguard which, through the process of armed struggle, created the subjective conditions necessary for victory (the consciousness that victory was possible by violent means), and developed the strategies which led to that victory. The socialist revolution changed the objective relations of produ-in Cubar, society, the Party is the vanguard while in Cubar society; the Party is the vanguard which is creating the subjective conditions necessary for the development of a communist society, and developing the policies for the economic changes leading to an economy of abundance. The change in consciousness comes from participation in the struggle to develop the economy, and from an understanding of that process. As Che said:

"Every worker, on every level, becomes a r the economy....their vanguard is the oldiar for the economy...their vanguard is the composed of the most advanced workers. advanced men who move along bound to the m and in close communion with them....To build on munism, a new man must be created simultaneously the material base.

two, three, many Viet-nams includes a cell for the creation of a Viet-nam within the very boundaries of the imperialist. Mother Country: the United States, Economic Strategy Economic Bolicy in the early years of the revolution was based on the conviction that readjusting economic priorities are releasing idle labor and resources gave unlimited opportunities for economic growth, and that to broak out of the condition of neo-colonialism meant to industrialize and to diversify agriculture. Therefore, the first two important goals were seen as import substitution and the development of a heavy industrial, hase. These policies required heavy investment of foreign preserves in raw materials, factories, the building of an economic infrastructure, the training of skilled personnel, and construction, which placed a severe strain on the Cuban teconomy. Pressure on reserves (foreign exchange as well as abor and resources) forced the Cubans to re-evaluate their policies) According to Carlos Rafael Rodriguez; their conclusions were that; strong dependence on foreign trade could not be ended in a short period. Further, as a tropical country. Cuba had many agricultural products (sugar, dairy and meat products, citrus fruit, coffee, tobacco) which she could offer to other socialist countries) who in turn were caable of portiding a stabilized market with good prices. This meant that sugar, primarily, meat and dairy products, and citrus fruits would provide the bulk of foreign exchange making industrial development possible in addition to solidifying their own subsistence base. This focus on agriculture aims at a mechanized agriculture, which will produce capital for re-investment, while at the same time freeing labor for other activities. The farty stages of industrials development possible in addition to solidifying their own subsistence base. This focus on agricultural by-products and brocessing.

II. Position on the Cuban Revolution

- As participarts in an enti-capitalist, and simperialist movement, we fully support the Cuban revolution of the basis of the following

 1. The Cuban socialist revolution has brought about a re-distribution of wealth and created an economic policy aimed at creating the economic basis (abundance) for a communist society.
- 2. Cuba is among the vanguard of an effort to revitalize social m and create a new sectalist man, having clearly learned a great deal from the short-comings of socialism, as practiced in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. The gradual climination of money, the use of moral incentives; mass participa on in the military and political processes, the building of mass consciousness, authentic measures to destroy class differences and to prevent the emergence of a new bureaucratic class—all are part of Cuba's experiment in the creation of a new socialism.

3. Cuba has developed a new concept of internationalism expressed in the Second Declaration of Havana i "dia duty of every revolutionary is to make the revolution." Cho's call for "two, three, many Viet-names" is strategy for the defeat of imperialism, and the guiding concept for a new international centered in the Third World and linked to the black liberation struggle as well as struggles in all advanced capitalist countries.

4. Since Cuba is the first liberated territory in the 4. Since Cuba as the treat hostrate derritory in the US government. As North American, statack by the US government. As North Americans dedicated to the destruction of imperialism, it is our obligation to oppose our government's policies in the most effective and concrete way possible.

III. Support of a North American Brigade to Cut Cane in the 1970 Sugar Harvest

A brigade of 300 Americans (called the Vencerenos brigade) is being organized to go down to Cuba and cut cane for the 1970 sugar harvest. The brigade will be divided into two sections; one will leave in lab. November, the other in late January, and each group will say in Cuba for a two-month period. Members of the brigade will be recruited from activists in the revolutionary movement in this country blacks, Latinos, white working class youth, students and dropout Gi's,

Political Purposes of the Brigade

1. To politically, morally and materially support Cuba in the critical sugar harvest of 1970 with its and of 10 million tons.

2. To educate people about imperialism and about the international revolution against imperialism. This will be accomplished through a well-developed education and propaganda program. The program will aim at developing an understanding of US imperialism, not only in its most blatant militaristic aspects (as in Victiman), but also its role in distorting and impeding economic development throughout the Third World.

3. To gain a practical understanding of the creative application of communist principles on a day-to-day basis. The New Left in the advanced capitalist countries has in the last decade clearly defined itself within the tradition of socialist and communist struggle begun a century ago. The American mass media and educational system have made the word communism into anathems; this experience will help us to develop ways of combatting wantl-communism.

IV. Breaking the Cultural Blockade.

Chapters should be encouraged to collect badly needed technical and scientific books and journals to be sent down to Cuba.

V. Support for a National Educational Program

The NO, REP and the NEFP should be encouraged to print educational material on the Cuban revolution and chapters should be encouraged to organize educational projects using these materials.

Taking the entrye giobe, if Nouth America and Western Europe can be called the cities of the world, then Asia, Africa, and Latin America constitute the rural areas of the world. Since World War II, the proletarian revolutionary imovement has, for various, reasons, been temporarily held back in the North American and Western European capitalist countries, while the people's revolutionary-movement in Asia, Africa, and Latin America has been growing vigorously. In a sense, contemporary world revolution also presents a picture of encirclement of cities by the rural areas. In the final analysis, the whole cause of world revolution images on the revolutionary struggles of the Asian, 'African, and Latin American peoples who make up the overwhelming majority of the world's population,

For almost 100 years, the people of Vietnam have been fighting for their liberation from foreign domination. First the French, then the Japanese, then the French sgain, and finally the United States have attempted to dominate Vietnam's economy, exploit her resources and enslave her people.

But the efforts of these super-powers to control Vietnam in the past nave all ultimately failed. And the attempt by the United States to maintain Vietnam as a colony brurn it into a graveyard will fail as well. It will fail because machines cannot defeat a people; and the thirst for profit by the imperialists will never defeat the people's need for freedom.

The struggle for national liberation and self-determination by the Vietnamese people occur's today in the context of world monopoly capitalism. Driven by its need to expand, capitalism must find new markets and resources in all parts of the Third World. Thus, capitalism has become—through the extension of its economy, culture and military throughout the non-socialist world—an international system of world imperialism. This system of world imperialism has altered the class struggle and the historical development of the colonized nations, making the struggle for national liberation the primary class struggle in the world, Vietnam is in, the vanguard of that struggle. The people's war in Vietnam will surely win, moreover, it is winning today and will continue to win, moreover, it is winning today and will continue to win, moreover, it is winning today and will continue to win, as their struggle has made it possible—for movements of national liberation of the Vietnam see people themselves, but also because their victory will make it possible—for movements of national liberation to emerge and intensify in other Third World soutcres, we further the destruction of the entire imperialist system (iself. The victory of the Victnamese people will be a victory for the oppressed peoples of the whole world.

History

The people of Vietnam first wrested their independence from the Chinese feudal invaders in 939. They defended themselves against Chinese feudal lords for centuries—only to be invaded by French colonialism

They detended membatives against Chinese return to violation around 1850.

The French set up a colonial administration with direct. French control over most parts of Vietnam. The French stole, the lands formerly worked by peasant figures and created rubber and rice plantations in which peasants worked as tenant farmers.

Open armed resistance against the French continued from the late 1850's until 1917. By that time, French repression was so heavy against any igner political administration—that any group which hoped to have anti-french impact was forced to go underground. In 1930, Ho Chi Minh organized the Indochinese Communist Party, ICP cadres provided leadership in a series of peasant rebellions in 1931 which were until respect to the provided seadership in a series of peasant rebellions in 1931 which were until y crushed by the French, Throughout the 1930's, communists maintained strength and organization despite severe repression.

t-utally crushed by the French. Throughout the 1930's, communists maintained strength and organization despite severe repression.

In 1940 and 1941, the Japanese handed the French an ultimatum to give up to the Japanese economic and military hegeniony over Indochina. The French were forced to concede.

In May, 1941, Ho Chi Minh met with the remnants of the central committee of the Indochinese Communist party, and the Vietnam Independence League was formed. The Vietnami, an anti-colonial coalition led by communists, fought against the Japanese during World War II, eyeing a possible fourte struggle with the French. In August, 1945, Vietnami horces marched into Hanoi, declarity a Provisional Government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, as the Japanese surrendered to the Allies. On September 2, 1945, Ho formally proclaimed Vietnam's Independence. If the armistice negotuations, the French recognized the newly proclaimed Democratic Republic of Vietnam, and agreed to provisions for free elections in southern-most Vietnam. But the hopes of the Vietnamese people for freedom and independence were short-lived. With the creation of a French puppet government and the French maya bombardment of Haiphong on November 23, 1946, it became clear that the French were determined to colonize Vietnam all over again. Thus began the "First Resistance War," waged from 1946-1954, that involved increasing US military aid to the French (the U was paying 80% of the cost of the war in 1953). Nonetheless, the war ended in the complete defeat of the French and the Vietnamese victory at Dien-bien-phu.

as p. ided for in the Geneva agreement, signed in 1954, the Victiminh left the areas under its control in the south, in expectation of elections which were to be held in 1955. Surely the whole of Vietnam would have been united under the leadership of Ho Chi Min had the elections been held.

But they were not. Once again, the Vietnamese were tricked—and their independence robbed. The US puppet, Dlem, terrified by the great success of socialism in North Vietnam, set up a fascial style dictaryable in the south, refused to hold elections, and effectively declared Vietnam two countries.

In 1960, after several years of spontaneous, violent uprisings by the people of South Vietnam, former resistance fighters gathered together and crasted the South Vietnam Liberation Front—to wage the war against imperialism, to the end.

II. The National Liberation Front

The National Liberation Front of South Vietnam is a coalition of all political, religious, and social forces committed to political almas of the NLF have consistently revolved around five main points: independence, democracy, neutrality, and peace for South Vietnam with a view towards the peaceful reunification of North and South Vietnam.

Vietnam.

Victory for the Front, which is sure to come, will represent the second historical phase in fulfilling the goal for which the Vietnamese people have struggled and suffered throughout this century—a free and peaceful Vietnam. Victory for the Vietnamh against the French, which resulted in the creation of an independent and socialist North Vietnam, was the first phase. Victory for the NLF in the South will be the second; reumification of North and South will represent he third and final victory. After final victory they will continue to struggle in the building of a strong homeland and in adding the cause of national liberation throughout Asia, Africa; and Latin America.

II. The War in the Countryside

From 1960 to 1967, the war in the jungles, mountains, and plains of South Vietnam has shown concretely the methods and results of people's war.

In the beginning stages of armed struggle small and generally isolated groups of former Vietnith fighters taged uprisings to get arms for self-defens of the local population. These attacks followed a pattern for many to come: political discussion beforehand, contact with the troops inside the target area, emissing support of the local population to carry off casualties and booty, so that the attacking force was always 100% combatant; more men than arms at the outset, more arms than men at the finish; sudden speedy night attack, and swift retreat.

When resindrecements would arrive, NIF regional troops would surround the reinforcements and decimate them. By the rid of 1984, often reinforcements almply were not sens in to retake a position of rescue the wounded. It was the victory at Bill Gla, fought in this way, that marked the final defeat of US 'Special War's, in which Asians were used as camon fodder and imperialist commanders; called the shots. The defeat of "Special War" in the Third World, since special war was being tested as a method of counter-insurgency against revolutionary guerrills movement throughout the world. By 1985 the NLF claimed control of over 80% of the territory and the allegiance of 2/3 of the people of South Vietnam, in the beginning of 1985 the decision was made by the United States to bomb the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, and US ground troops entered into the war on a majsity scale, "Limited war" began. The process since, 1985 has been one of NLF strategists and fightors learning how to defeat large units of US troops as well as evading and finding protection against air frepower, and pushing a deteriorating US-Saigon Command offensive into a "passive defensive posture."

The US tried desperately in the two dry-season offensives of 1985-66 and 1986-67 to chipure key areas of the country-fide and-gain some freedom to maneuver. Each offensive was aimed at destroying NLF regular units, and in both years US troops were unable to even find regular units, By 1987-68 the initiative of the War had passed completely into the hands of the NLF.

IV. The War in the Cities

The War in the Cities

The Tet offensive, launched in Jan.-Peb, of 1958, began a new phase of the Victnam war. The struggle moved from the country-side to in and around the cities and American bases, in keeping with the overall NLF strategy for victory in the South, Important military and political advances were made which set the stage for the Paris Talks, the present military situation, and the present political situation in Victnam.

NLF lighters were able to penetrate 140 towns and 11 of the 14 major US airfields with the aid of hundreds of thousands of the local populace who fed the lighters, hid ammunition, and carried supplies for days before the lattacks were launched. This support, carried on in complete secrecy, was the decisive factor in the success of the Tet Offensive and represented a glorious example of people's war.

During Tet, an irrban armed force was created, NLF communiques began to speak of the "Revolutionary Armed Forces," which was a force of urban youth, students, workers, and deserters from the juopet army. Their units were identified by the tity districts in which they were based. They were key in guiding NLF fighters in seizing scores of thousands of arms and strategic points.

203,000 soldiers in the Satgon pupper army deserted during Tet, including one unit which deserted in their tanks. Seldom before had the puppet forces deserted in whole units.

V. Present Military Situation

V. Present Military Situation

V. Present Military Situation

Before Tet the US-Salgon Command considered the cities their, safe rear from which to attack Liberation Army bases in the countryside. The NLF had a hard time approaching the cities, and stacks were night raids in which the NLF attackers had to make it back to countryside bases undetected.

With the great victories of the Tet offensive, the creation of "fixed bases" around the littles, the NLF can now five rockets and mortars into alreases, communication centers, and dil deposit, Munitions can be sefred almost at will, and the NLF can fee through the splery-web mate of timnels and trenches in and around the cities.

The fixed bases" on the outskirts of the cities represent an organic link connecting the bases in the jungles and mountains with the urbain population. The US-Salgon Command can no longer consider the cities area, with the Liberation Army constantly pounding US bases and installations.

Although this year"s offensive was not marked by the intense troop digiting of last year, NLF rockets and mortars have inflicted a degree of damage similar to that of Tet. Over 2,000 helicopters and planes were destroyed on the ground this year—just as in last year's offensive.

This year's offensive struck at US bases throughout South Victuam, concentrating of the large airfields around the cities and the extensive technological and natural citivers and roadways) US-salgon communications systems.

Including the successful defense of newly liberated areas in and around the cities, and the continuity successful camouflage used to protect the Liberation Army's fixed bases, the level of armed struggle has reached an incredibly high stage in the NIF's strategy for this phase of the struggle.

VI. 'resent Political Situation

In the eduntryside:

The political results of Tei are clear, major advances for the NLF, collapse for the US-Saigon administration. The last sectices of Saigon administration control in the poort, pacification areas, lell apart, its troops were drawn the oties, which left them stretched in a defensive position—urying to re-occus, what were considered occupied areas, in the content side and a month before. After let, the US-Sation Command had to concentrate its efforts on trying to rebuild river and road communications and clearing the areas around bases, as well as trying to retake prestige itargets.

The destruction of the pacification program represented a major political defeat for the United States. As long as partification existed, the so-called "political west" for the hearts and minds of the peasants, the myth of Satgon centrol and the myth of growing Satgon power could all be perpetuated.

Following Tet, and to this day, restoring Satgon political presence in the countrylate—much, less the building and consolidating of power—is out of the question.

Whatever grip the Salgoo quislings had over the cities was destroyed during Tet. This was apparent when ky and Thieu clung to power by goths along with the US policy of "destroying the cities" to save titem. The urban population, if formerly untouched by the strecties in the countryside, now know the fascist tenocity of their homes being bombed and their streets being turned to rubble.

With the destruction of the Salgon puppets' hold on the cities, new urban pollitical groups and forms have evolved. The NLF, fase extended its underground work with, students and "self-management committees." The administrative basis for the building of a new life in ilberated zones has been created in working-class areas in the cities. The self-management committees take care of day-to-day needs, like public health and food distribution. Armed urban youth art as self-defense units, and the NLF holds cultural events in these areas, NLF fighters have free access to those neighborhoods if they need to make an emergency escape. Strategid parts of the cities, then, are effectively alberated, A new force called the Alliance of National, Peace, and Democratic forces, based in Salgon and flue, emerged after Tet. The Alliance included urban intellectuals, former members of the Ky-Thieu regime, and petit-bourgeois elements. The NLF and the DKY support the political program of the Alliance, which calls for overharow of the Ky-Thieu regime, setting up a children convergence with the NLF, and peace based on total independence. The emergence of the Alliance is clear evidence of the political strength and the political threat the NLF represents through the massive support of peasants and workers, the overwhelming majority of oppressed Vistnamese people. Nobody wants to be on the losing side. It represents the that political isolation of the Kyl-Thieu reliance from the broad masses of Vietnamese of all social strate.

VIII The Paris Peace Talks and the NLF Peace Plan

It is in light of NLF political military hegemony of the soil of Victnam that we must view the Paris Talks. Let us be very clear: the National Liberation Front is not negotiating from a position of weatness; nor are they, by any stretch of the imagination, "selling out the people of Victnam," Rather, the front comes to Paris in a position of great strength, after eight years of war that has stopped the possibility of a US military victory, won increasing allegiance from the masses of beople in Vietnam, and, within the liberated cones, allowed for the creation of the beginnings of a new spelety that only blinds the NLF and the people choice together. Further, the NLF knows better than anyone else that the only way the South Vietnames can truly gith their independence is not through talking, but through the struggle that makes it militarily and politically impossible for the United States to be continue its genocidal presence in Vietnam. Thus, even while negotiating in Paris, the NLF has intensified the fighting in the South—and rediped US strategy to an almost exclusively defensive holding operation. While the talks go on in Paris—Jt should be clear to everyone but the blind—the Front unceasingly containes the people's war in South Vietnam.

The Paris Talka, then, must be viewed as one more front from which to carry on the battle for Vietnames freedom. And, in this context, the NRF has won significant victories in Paris. First, it has established itself as an independent and representative spokesiman for the people M South Vietnam, second, there has been comulete unity Millin the NLF-DRV ranks, an important show of power and propaganda which put alongside the bitter distrust between the US and hele "allies", whose sole existence depends on US and should vietnam show of power and propaganda which put alongside the bitter distrust between the US and hele "allies", whose sole existence depends on US and should vietnam second, there has been comulete unity Millin the NLF-DRV ranks, an important show of power and pro

ten points, This ten-point program outlines the NLF position on Vietnam's future; and provides the basis for a fair peace. The main principles of the plan include:

unilateral withdrawal of all US troops and their destruction of all US military bases and removal

the resolving of the question of Vietnamese armed forces within Vietnam by the people themselves.

the creation of a provisional coalition government to consist of all political forces committed to peace, independence, and neutrality.

reunification of Vietnam through peaceful means.

VIII. The New Democratic Stage

Comrade Mao Tse-tung has pointed out that in the epoch since the October Revolution, anti-imperialist revolution in any colonial or semi-colonial country is no longer part of the old bourgeois or capitalist world revolution, but is part of the new world revolution, the protetarian world revolution.

— Lin Pao

but is part of the new world revolution, the protestarian world revolution.

Lin Pao

The struggle for self-determination and liberation of the Vietnamese people from US imperialism will inevitably culminate in a united, socialist Vietnam. The character of the Vietnamese revolution in the present stage, however, is based entirely on the fact that the most immediate enemy facing the people is imperialism and foreign domination, and the absolute need to unite all progressive elements within Vietnam in order to defeat imperial sm.

The culmination of this revolutionary stage in Vietnam's history will be the establishment of a national democratic union, including all revolutionary classes. Unlike the "old bourgeois revolutions," however, which culminated in the rule of local capitalists, the Vietnamese revolutionary victory will be a major step toward the building of socialism in Vietnam.

This is due in part, to the fact that world-wide morogely capitalism is no longer a possible road for industrialization or progress in any Third World country. Instead, it prevents the development of an authentic local bourgeoiste and enforces a backward and colonial status on Third World nations. No capitalist country in the Third World can-avoid being penetrated and controlled, and eventually reduced to complete colonial status, by monogoly capital. Imperialism and capitalism are thus inherently tied together, as is the struggle for national self-determination is possible only with socialism. Thus, national liberation movements must lead to socialism, in this epoch of world imperialism, and colonial status, by monogoly capital. Imperialism for survival. This alunce is based on the preservation of feualism, faccism, and copitalism colonialism.

In order to maintain its domination of Third World countries, imperialism has made an alliance with the mist reactionary elements within its colonies—the land ords, the military, and certain sections of the bourgeoisle most dependent upon timperialism for survival. This alunce is based on political beliefs and their past may be, provided that they stand for peace, independence and neutrality. Clearly, the SLF 10-point peace plant reflects the political sims of, the new democratic revolution.

What are the economic aims of the new democratic revolution? Mao says, "Economically, it aims at the nationalization of all the big enterprises and capital of the imperialists, traitors, and the distribution among the peasants of the land held by the landlords, while preserving private capitalist enterprise in general and not eliminating the peasant economy. Thus, the new type of democratic revolution clears the way for capitalism on the one nand and creates the precquisite for socialism on the other. The NLF political program adopted at the Extraordinary Congress of 1967 includes the stipulations.

-to confiscate the property of the USI imperialists and their die hard cruel agents and turn it into state property.

to set up a State bank.

the State will encourage capitalist industry and trade to help develop industry, small industries and handleraits.

to enact the land policy, to carry out the slogan

In addition, the 10-point peace plan specifically includes; the stipulation, some property of the laboring people. The new democratic revolution as expressed by Mao also includes the notion of building up a strong national democratic culture to replace the deprayed culture of the imperialists and feudal landlords. The NLF political program includes the stipulations:

to fight against the American-type enslaving and deprayed culture and education now adversely affecting our people's fine, long-standing cultural traditions.

to build a national democratic culture education.

to develop science and technology in the service of national construction and defense.

to educate the people in Vietnam's tradition of struggle against foreign invasion and its heroic history.

—to preserve and develop the fine customs and good habits of our nation.

The NLF, led by the proletariat, has been enauting the notion of the new democratic revolution in the liberated zone for eight years. The national democratic undon will be led by the proletariat after the US withdrawal and will proceed through the stage of New Democracy to socialism. This is clear the view of the fact that in struggling against imperialism, i.e., international capitalism, the Vietnamese people have understood that they must not give monopoly capitalism.

even a toebold in their country, it is clear, a view of the desire of the Victnamese for reunification with the North; and finally it is clear because of the leadership of the People's Revolutionary Party, which has been essential for the victory of the Victnamese people. Victnam is the Dien-bien-phu of Ur imperialism. Just as Dien-bien-phu represented the turn toward victory in the "first reastance" was against the French, Victnam represents the turn toward victory of the oppressed people of the world against imperialism. Understanding that the key class contradiction in capitalism today is between US imperialism and the oppressed nations within and outside the US, and understanding that the struggle of the Victnamese people represents the vanguard struggle of the international proletariat, we must aid the NLF by bringing the war home to the mother country.

We must consistently assert our support for the struggle of the people of Victnam, for the National Liberation Front, and for the Ten Point Program for Peace presented in Paris.

We must build increasingly sharp struggles, not only because that is the only way we can build a fighting movement at home, but because it is the most concrete way we can aid the NLF.

We must consciousness in all our work and through all our demands and struggles, alongside the Victnamese Liberation Army, and make concrete our international duty.

IX, Implementation

1. All chapters should intensify and escalate struggles against ROTC, military research, and other aspects of the military on campus, as a concrete way of aiding the Vietnamese struggle.

2. The solidarity of SDS with the Vietnamese people, and people's movements throughout the world, as well as the demand for immediate, unconditional withdrawal of all US troops from Visinam, should be raised in any national or regional demonstrations planned for the

3. SDS should conduct an Intensive campaign of education and action next December to commemorate the ninth anniversary of the founding of the NLF.

4. Literature suitable for mass distribution should be published by the National Office—such as excerpts from Burchett's books, the 10 Point Peace Plan, etc. The general line of this literature must be: "Solidarity with the Victnamese people, complete victory for the, Ni F!"

5. This resolution ishould be reproduced by the National Office as a basic history and SDS position on the great struggle of the Vietnamese people.

6. SDS must implement the building of a revolutionary youth movement as the only long-range strategy possible for SDS in the international struggle against imper all sm.

On NLN

The kinction of the internal organ of a political organization should be to report to the members the activities of heir comrades in various areas, and to promote discussion which can flow rom the experiences of those activities and in which all members can participate. This enables the organisation to choose its political direction in a semocratic and direction in a gemocratic and self-conscious manner through selection among various theoretical and strategic alternatives which are fully presented to the membership through the paper. Such a paper can also serve a valuable ion as a vehicle for internal ation insofar as it offers materials and study guides which enable the tudy of historical and political theory, particularly revolutionary Marxism, but not if it attempts to present large his of this theory in a packaged, higested form. It is on the basis these principles that the internal ewspaper of SDS should be organized. the purpose of this resolution is to note everal problems and shortcomings of New Left Notes at present and to propose specific measures to make NLN more democratic and more useful force in the life of SDS.

PROBLEMS

(A) Politically, the most disturbing frend has developed in the discussion of major, especially international, questions, instead of substantive an-open debate on such issues (for example open debate on such issues (for example the character of the leadership of the Vietnamese, Cuban, and Chinese revolution we find increasingly both direct and indirect efforts by the leadership in the National Office to represent certain positions as authoritative and beyond challenge. With respect to Vietnam, for example, the large majority of recent articles has a been written by national officers who take the positions that (1) every olitical position and tactical maneuver the National Liberation Front is clearly correct, because the NLF is the leader of the anti-imperialist struggle in South Vietnam, and (2) critical political analysis of the NIF (in particular by revolutionary socialists who point out its anti-democratic mode of organization and its contradictory and non-socialist program, or by PLers who attack the NLF for negotiating with the imperialists over the objections of the leaders of the Chinese Communist Party). is the work of "counter-revolutionary traitors" to the working - class to the working class movement. opposition viewpoints have been printed as letters, so that a description of NLN as a "monolithic" factional organ would be unjustified at this point; but these have appeared only after pressure was exerted on the N.O. staff by charges that NLN was not printing opposition

(B) A related issue is the reportage of internal life in SDS, which has been disturbingly one-sided at certain key points. The outstanding example of this development was the coverage of the split in Ann Arbor SDS, in which the position of one side was fully presented in NLN, while the article written by the opposition "Radical Caucus" was never printed at all. The reason given for not printing this article before the December NC which decided which faction to recognize as the official chapter was that the article was too long to be printed, while after the NC the Radical Caucus position had of course been defeated, and so the issue was dead. Comment on this argument will be deferred to the next paragraph,

(C) Considerable space is devoted to strategically chosen lengthy and quotations from personalities in the international revolutionary movement, most often Mao Tse-tung and Che Guevara. In the issue preceding the December NC, for example, space was given to articles by Mao, Che, and Julius Lester. It was sufficiently bad that the selections from the writings of these revolutionary authority figures were evidently chosen to bolster the position of the N.O. in issues to be debated at the NC; what makes it much worse is that the deletion of these articles would have created more than enough space for the Ann Arbor Radical Caucus document which was suppressed the basis of insufficient space in NLN. This illustrates at the very least an unhealthy conception of priorities in selecting material. To give a more revent example, the N.O. position of uncritical glorification of Vietnamese leadership has been pushed by printing an interview with a North Vietnamese Minister of Education, in which we learn that the Party ensures democracy through carrying or it by cipal task," which "is to regulate the relations between man and man in society and the college, and by a lengthy except from the NLF claiming total success in scores of military operations. Like everyone else in SDS, we would be delighted if we could believe these claims of massive military success to be completely true. It must be stated frankly, however, that there are factional reasons for wanting SDSers ractional reasons for wanting SISers to believe these claims in tot. If one is convinced to believe fully in the military self-image projected by the NLF, then it becomes easign to extend this credence to the NLF's political this credence to the NLF is popularly what would make it possible for SDS to adopt officially the position that any criticism of the NLF is a reaction by téndency.

WE THEREFORE RESOLVE that the National Convention establish, and explicitly mandate the editorial staff to carry out the following policy regarding the operation of NLN:

(A) On major political issues where (A) On major political issues where disagreements exist in SDS, systematic and open internal discussion of these issues/should be actively or antized and carried out in NLN. This would mean, for example, that on a given international question (such as the new constitution of the Chinese Communist Party, or the meaning of Fidel's critical support, for the Russian invasion of Craenbackwistal there would be a solid in the constitution of the Craenbackwistal there would be a solid in the constitution of the Craenbackwistal there would be a solid in the constitution of the Craenbackwistal there would be a solid in the constitution of the Craenbackwistal there would be a solid in the constitution of the Craenbackwistal there would be a solid in the constitution of the constitution Czechoslovakia) there would be a period of several weeks when space would be reserved in each issue for articles and debate that would be actively solicited from SDS. These discussions should be announced in advance so that serious factual and political arguments can be prepared by all tendencies. This would be in addition to the usual ongoing discussions of ravolutionary theory and practical strategic perspective for EDS, these being discussions which cannot generally be formalized and carefully structured. Obviously, the extent to which this idea can be carried out at any given time will depend on a number of factors, especially the amount of space needed to cover in full the activities and struggles chrired on by SDS chapters, the reporting of which is obviously the most important function of NLN. factual and political arguments can be

(B) The views of the national officers should be stated regularly, in a clearly delineated and limited space. This will enable the membership to understand what those views are and crystallize reorganization, there should be an end to the presentation of excerpts from the writings of revolutionary figures, in a manner that is supefficially, reducational but in fact designed artificially support one or another factional viewpoint (this is not to suggest that the study of revolutionary theory should be ignored; in fact it would excellent idea to present a series of articles designed to familiarize the readers of NLN with the general literature of all varieties of revolutionary socialist thought and to help them develop serious study programs for themselves).

Political developments within chapters should be fully reported. It has been the case that chapters have been backward in reporting their activities and direction of development. It is also true that, as in the Ann Arbor such developments are not properly presented. It should be seen as a responsibility both (or political positions and of the national staff. to print these positions in NLN.

(D) In short, NLN must be made an open publication. Its purpose is to present to the membership of SDS the views of all political tendencies in views of all political tendencies in the organization, particularly those organizing at the rank-and-file chapter level. This purpose cannot be accomplished through a verbal commitment to it, nor simply by the formal passage of a resolution such as this one. No resolution can possibly solve in a meaningful way the resolution. solve in a meaningful way the problem of which tendencies are "significan" ones: at a given time, or in what proportions space in NLN should be allotted to various kinds of articles. The establishment of a newspaper which actually serves the needs of SDS people, which both presents the views and programs of majority tendencies and at the same time enables minorities to offer their positions and attempt to win majority support for themselves; ets possible only if the internal life of SDS itself is vigorous and democratic and if the editorial staff of NLN is consciously devoted to the publication of such a newspaper.

Internal Democracy/ , in SDS

The following resolution has been submitted to the National Convention the University of Pittsburgh chapter of SDS.)

We are opposed to the principle of a leadership trying to "radicalize the consciousness" of a rank-and-file membership from the top down. We feel that the election of officers in SDS the become an animal iscramble of certain rivupings to impose their own-particular theories and strategies on the organization as a whole, to "radicalize" our consciousness for us (from the particular viewpoint of those asparing to leadership). The major contending groupings in the organization at present seem to have no qualma about this elitist practice. Their main concern seems to be to make their own ideological viewpoint that which represents the organization as a whole. We call on all members who are disgusted with this practice to reject all factions and groupings seeking to perpetuate it.
We also feel that the chaos and confusion of national conventions and National Council meetings have come to be detrimental to the meaningful participation of the membership of SDS in organizational decision-making. The programs and statements flowing from such; gatherings are not representative of inresegments of the membership, and are accordingly irrelevant to and ignored by same

Phoposal One
Election of national officers should be held by national referendum after full discussion of relevant questions has been carried on by the candidates in New Left Notes for at least four consecutive issues. Committees to supervise such left close shall be established by the National Council at the first National Council meeting of each year. This proposal shall become effective in later than the first National Council meeting of 1870. Delegates to the SIS National Convention of 1870 shall be instructed to incorporate this proposal into the organization's constitution, making whatever modifications are deemed no essay on the basis of this practical experience. The decision of the National Convention of 1870 shall be subject to ratification to the entire momership by national referendum.

Proposal Two

Proposal Two Any SIX regional structure should be established throughout the country to ensure democracy and unity gitthin the organization. (We wish to emphasize that our goal here is not "decentralization," but democracy and unity.) Reproassibuld be established on the basis of geographical area and population. Each region should have a minimum of pre-full-time staff worker to service chapters within the region (to be approved by and paid by those chapters.) A tegional council, composed of one representative elected from each chapter in the region, would help supervise regional, plograms.

The regional structure would serve a do the following:

1. Make national reference a more practical (and thus more frequently, used) decision-making tool, ensuring greater democracy and membership participation in national decision-making than exists at present. Regional staff workers and council members would be responsible for seeing that full discussion and voting took place.

2. Create, a more stable financial base. Regions should be responsible for paying their regional staff workers and for providing for a percentage of the national budget. The regional structure would greatly facilitate dues collection and four ratsing.

3. Establish a workable framework for a seriou membership education program. Such a program should ensure a standard minimum level of knowledge throughout the organization of (a) analyses of basic problems facing American society, (b) history of movements for social change, and (c) various major society, (b) history of phovements for social change, and (c) various major theories of social change,

4. Facilitate greater inter-organizational communication and interpaction. Vational conventions, National Council meetings, and (in its present form) how Left Notes are simply inadequate for this purpose. Regular, detailed reports on regional activity should be sent to the National Office and reporting in New Left Notes, Regional conferences and inter-regional conferences—free from the tasks of elections and decision-magning and from the chaos of factional manuevering—could be a positive tool for communicating ideas and experiences (and establishing truly demandely relationships) in a relatively un-pressured and open atmosphere.

The National Council should be instructed to establish a committee to develop, a program for the concrete implementation of this proposal, to be voted upon by the National Council no later than December, 1964, Steps should be taken to carry out this program immediately indicater. Delegately those SS Stational Convention of 1970 shall be instructed to incorporate that Yopkam into the organization's constitution, making instructed to incorporate that Yopkam into the organization of 1970 shall be instructed to incorporate that Yopkam into the organization of the basis of practical experience. The decision of the National Convention of 1970 shall be subject to a attiff the entire membership by national referendum.
